Did You Know

We Preserve It!

Here at All About Art we are committed to providing you with high quality custom framing. We use only archival quality products when framing your valuable art, photographs, and documents. It is imperative to protect special pieces from the acid that is present in all regular paper, wood, and cardboard. Because of this acid, any art or photographs that were framed more than ten years ago need to be inspected and possibly updated to acid-free archival standards. Without this update they will deteriorate with time.

We have years of experience framing a large variety of objects, from paintings and photographs to shadowboxes for sports jerseys and family heirlooms. We take great pride in preserving your cherished possessions.
